WAREHOUSES BULGE WITH STORED RICE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Discovery has been made by L. J. Dolan, sealer of weights and measures, that $500,000 pounds of rice are held in local storehouses by dealers, small speculators and warehouse men, while rice quotations jump steadily with augmented demand. The discovery was made on a tour of inspection by Dolan, his chief deputy, M. J. Welch, and Supervisor Joseph Mulvihill.

According to Dolan, some of this rice is held for speculative purposes while other amounts are packed away to answer legitimate needs. Despite the pressing demand for the Oriental and California staple from all portions of the country, the warehouses are packed full. American millers have already purchased their supply and the remainder, sealed in warehouses, is being held to satisfy local wants and for purposes of speculation.

To regulate such situations as this Secretary of Agriculture Houston will have introduced in Congress this week a bill which grants extraordinary powers to the Council of Defense. The bill will advocate release of food, held in storage, control of transportation of foodstuffs, control of maximum and minimum prices and the regulation of the liquor traffic. Rice on March 1 was quoted wholesale at 3 1/2 cents a pound. This was the highest price in years. Today the local quotation is 6 7/8 cents a pound. Small speculators, according to San Francisco millers, are cornering the surplus. Over 500,000 pounds of storage rice was found yesterday in South San Francisco warehouses, one-half of which was held by one man.

Simple Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arsenic from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

WOODMAN IN LEAD IN VOTES

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—Frederick T. Woodman, present mayor of Los Angeles, was leading the candidates for that position at an early hour this morning, according to the unofficial tabulation of returns from the city primary election made up by the various campaign committees. In 282 precincts of 765 Woodman had a clear majority of 900 votes over the three other candidates, with M. P. Snyder second. Former Mayor Charles E. Sebastian was running last and had polled an average of less than two votes to the precinct.

Of the eight-four candidates for city council, the incumbents were in the lead. Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey had the largest individual vote. Owing to the large field, eighteen names will go on the final ticket. There will be no election to the board of education at the primaries, according to the officials. Fourteen names will go before the voters for these seven positions.

WOMEN TO WORK FOR BIG RAILWAYS

NEW YORK, May 2.—Many big eastern railroads today started making arrangements to employ women in place of men called to arms by the draft.

Among the roads which are taking these steps are the New Haven, Lehigh Valley, Erie, New York Central, the Pennsylvania and the Long Island.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has not made any plans yet, but by experiments conducted on its system it feels sure that women can do the work of a large number of men.

All roads made it plain that no men would be displaced by women unless actually drafted. The women will be used in departments not actually engaged in physical operation of trains.

The Lehigh is already employing women as car cleaners and has made experiments with them as train dispatchers. The New York Central also is employing women as car cleaners.

The Long Island is preparing to employ a large number of women in clerical departments.

Between 300 and 400 men employees of the Great Central terminal are members of the National Guard, and are momentarily expecting a summons to duty. All arrangements are being made to put women in their places.

UNITY IS URGED

NEW YORK, May 2.—Workingmen everywhere must unite to establish permanent peace in the world, and factional strife among them will not be tolerated, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared at the national convention of the National Cloth Hat Makers' Union of America, held here.

He said that the Jewish press of this country must not be permitted to dominate the labor movement, and he warned his hearers that unless they quickly settle the differences between themselves and the United Hatters of America their charter in the American Federation of Labor will be withdrawn.

"The conscience of the American labor movement is far above any press devoted to any particular nationality or religion," he declared.

ASKS FOR COIN

CHICAGO, May 2.—Employees of the treasury department in Chicago are asked to contribute part of their salaries to the Red Cross in a circular letter from Secretary McAdoo. They are told it is not compulsory for them to contribute, but that it is an act of patriotism to do so. The secretary's letter asks "every employee receiving a salary of $1000 or less to contribute 50 cents, each receiving a salary of $1000 to $2000 to contribute $1 and each employee and official receiving higher salary to contribute $2." The fund to be administered under the general supervision of the Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo.

There are 30,000 employees of the treasury department scattered over the United States.

NOT HELD LIABLE

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—An opinion announced by the state superintendent of public instruction, declares that trustees of a school district personally cannot be held liable for the payment of a teacher's salary in case the school is closed ahead of time specified in the contract, due to shortage of operating funds. A number of California schools were closed some weeks earlier than usual this season because of shortage of school money.

EXPLAIN PROTEST

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Seventh Day Adventists, fearing misunderstanding of the declaration filed with the War Department asking exemption from military service which would violate their "conscientious objection to the law of God," directed attention to paragraphs of the declaration. These express the willingness of members of the organization to aid the government in this war in any capacity which would not violate their convictions.

CAT TURNED WHITE

ATHENS, Ga., May 2.—Every body has heard of a person's hair turning white over night from fright, but the latest freak happening is for a black cat which until recently possessed a black coat to turn white. The other night the cat was accidentally locked in a safe in which are kept the money and books, and in the morning she was perfectly white.

SMITH AFTER PAROLE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—A man serving one-half his sentence in San Quentin, James B. Smith, vice-president of the Western Fuel Company, who was convicted on a conspiracy charge together with another official of the corporation, will soon be on parole. This fact became known today, when friends of the prisoner affirmed rumors which have for several days been flying about San Francisco's commercial section. Smith is eligible for parole, having served over nine of his eighteen months' sentence.

BAY GIVES UP DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The body of a dressed man which had apparently been in the water about a week, was found floating in the channel near the Third street wharf. The man is believed to be Joseph Johnson, as that is the name appearing on a check made out by the Elmer Music Company dated January 2, 1915, for $15. He had 50 cents and a gold watch in his pocket. He was about 45 years old, medium height and weighed 175 pounds.

MINISTER FREED OF ACCUSATION

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—After a trial which was regarded as a test of whether the teachings of the Emanuel school come under the medical act, Rev. Thomas Parker No. 2 of 1401 Euclid avenue, Berkeley, head of the Emanuel movement of the Protestant Episcopal church on the Pacific coast, was acquitted by a jury yesterday of violating the state medical practice act. The case was tried before Superior Judge Franklin Griffin and was attended by Bishop William Lord Nichols and other leading clergymen.

Doctor Boyd was arrested on complaint of H. G. Henderson of the State Board of Medical Examiners, who asserted that he had illegally made a diagnosis. At that time Doctor Boyd stated he wished to carry the matter as high as possible in the courts in order to secure an adjudication. After the acquittal Dr. Boyd said: "I regard the outcome of this trial as a vindication of the methods which myself and many others have been pursuing in the United States. It is the first test of the Emanuel movement in America, and its medical status is now defined."

AUXILIARY TO MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the California State Pharmaceutical Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Le Roy Wagner, 627 Santa Rosa avenue on tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members are requested to be present as this will be the last meeting of the club until fall, and will be devoted exclusively to business.

RESIDENCE FIGURES IN SHARON CONTEST

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—That the crux of Frederick Wallace Sharon's contest for half of the late F. W. Sharon's millions may be reached today when Senator Francis G. Newlands and Mrs. Louise Tevis Sharon, widow and chief beneficiary, take the stand in Judge J. V. Coffey's court is the opinion of attorneys and attaches. It will be the endeavor of Attorney Garrett W. McEnerney to disprove adoption of the claimant by the dead financier while Attorney Thomas B. Dozier, acting for young Sharon, will try to show the legality of the disputed procedure. Mrs. Sharon, according to report, is the chief witness, while Senator Newlands is second importance for the estate. Through their testimony McEnerney will try to show that Frederick William Sharon, the dead millionaire, took New York as his legal residence in 1895, the year of the alleged adoption. According to the California state law residence in the state boundaries is required by adoptive parents. Yesterday's procedure was composed entirely of questioning W. E. Sharon, president of the Sharon Estate Company. Attorney Dozier failed to shake the witness' testimony. Sharon claimed that the estate cared for the claimant and his brother, Walter, because they were "poor" relations and that the Sharon pride demanded their sustenance.

HIS UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL

Oakland, Cal., Mar. 25, 1917.
For several years I was troubled with nervous indigestion and the most prominent physicians in both Oakland and San Francisco without obtaining permanent results. Finally, when an operation on my spine was suggested, I got up and began drinking the FONG WAN CHINESE HERBS. After a few weeks I felt entirely well. This was in September, 1916, and up to the present time, March, 1917, there has been no recurrence of the attack.

Society

Who will be the winter's debutante?

That is a question which, like almost every other, is dependent upon many rumors of war and the general kind in which society finds itself.

But, and if all is well, two, maybe more of our charming Oakland maids without doubt will make their formal bows, although, of course, in so many months plans may be made and unmade dozens of times. Next month Miss Harriet Walsh will graduate from one of the exclusive finishing schools in New York and with the dawn of the early winter will be ready for her introduction to society. The younger daughter of the home is an exceedingly lovely girl who would have no difficulty in winning the same sort of general popularity as her mother, Mrs. Edward M. Walsh, and sister, Mrs. John Louis Lohse enjoys. Early next month Mr. and Mrs. Walsh are leaving for the Atlantic coast to be in time for the graduation festivities and to bring their daughter back to California. The family will spend the entire summer in their interesting place in the high Sierras.

Miss Anna Easton, who also closes the chapter of school days in the eastern school next month, will be a popular debutante. And should there be no reason to postpone the parties attendant upon her formal entrance into society the function at which she will be introduced will be marked with that beauty of detail which sets apart all the entertainments which her mother, Mrs. Giles Nelson Easton, plans. Mrs. Easton leaves for the East within a few weeks to join her daughter for the graduating exercises and to spend some months on the Atlantic coast as the guests of relatives. She will be accompanied by her father, J. W. Phillips.

One of the delightful dinners of the mid-May is that for which Mrs. Nelson Howard will claim a congenial coterie of friends at her handsome Piedmont residence. Mrs. Howard has been giving, through the later season, a series of these charming functions which have afforded pleasure to a large number of guests. May 11 has been chosen by Mrs. Howard for the happy affair.

Miss Marjorie Cogan will be a hostess of Tuesday afternoon, May 8, offering a luncheon followed by an hour about the bridge tables as the pleasure to that little group of friends whose fortnightly gatherings are so eagerly anticipated. In the number here Mrs. Warren Harrold, Mrs. Cary Hill, Mrs. Lela, Mrs. William, Mrs. Wells Jr., Mrs. Jack Van Sicken, Miss Irene Farrell, Miss Cleo Posey, Miss Phyllis Lovell, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Miss Helen Downey and a few others.

Miss Cogan will be a June bride, her wedding with Malcolm Campbell being planned for the earlier month. It will be a house ceremony and quite simply arranged, although no definite plans have as yet been perfected. The young people are setting in order the attractive new home which they will

FOUR WOMEN TESTIFY

Positive Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Their Health.

Yonkers, N. Y.—"I suffered from a bad case of female trouble, backache, nervousness and indigestion. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health after everything else had failed."—Mrs. H. J. L. FLEET, 51 Hamilton Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

Danville, Ill.—"I would not be alive today had it not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it cured me from a severe case of female trouble."—Mrs. O. A. COE, Batetown Road, Danville, Ill.

Ridgway, Pa.—"I wish all women who suffer from female troubles would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I avoided a surgical operation by its use."—Mrs. O. M. RHINES, Ridgway, Pa.

North Haven, Conn.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health after everything else had failed when passing through change of life. There is nothing like it to overcome the trying symptoms."—Mrs. FLORENCE ISLELLA, Box 197, North Haven, Conn.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough to women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

occupy following their marriage. It is not far distant from the Cogan residence and adjoins the home of Mrs. A. L. Adams in Oakland avenue.

Robert Tolmie has sent out cards for a musical tea on Sunday afternoon at his attractive studio in Piedmont. Several scores of interesting people have been included in the invitation of the hour.

With Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mauvais, Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Elder, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Jenks, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Souder, Van Der Mark and Mrs. Carrie Louise Watson as the patrons and patronesses of the students of the Watson school are on Friday evening giving a charming dance. One hundred and fifty cards have gone out for the large affair, which will bring together the debutante set in the rose room of the Hotel Oakland.

Miss Lucy Pierce, accompanied by Miss Imogene Burr of San Francisco, sailed yesterday for Honolulu, where they are expecting to remain several months. They have an interesting coterie of friends in the island group who will do much toward making the sojourn of the two California women in their midst delightful. Miss Pierce is one of the young artists of the coast who has done work worthy of notice. During the past year or so she and Miss Florence Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allison Williams, have been working together in a charming studio.

Formal announcement is made of the betrothal of Miss Ida May Smith to Napoleon B. Turner. The interesting news was told at a dinner given at the Sigma Kappa house in Berkeley, when covers were laid for a half-hundred guests. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hart P. Smith of Ileton. Formerly she was a student in the University of California, later taking her diploma from the San Francisco state normal school. While in college she was associated with the Sigma Kappa sorority and was a member of the Treble Clef Society.

Turner is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Turner of Ileton. He is interested in business in Sacramento county.

Sixteen friends were the guests yesterday of Mrs. Martin W. Kales when she entertained at an elaborately appointed luncheon in the tapestry room of the Hotel Oakland. Following the discussion of the menu an interesting game of bridge was enjoyed.

One of the brilliant affairs which the social calendar holds for tomorrow is that for which Mr. and Mrs. William G. Henshaw are claiming a large number of friends at "Rose Crest." The evening following Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keeney and Mrs. Alla Henshaw Chickering are extending their hospitality to several scores of the younger friends of the family, who have been invited to play bridge, with supper and dancing later.

Dr. Frank Girard of Piedmont made a hasty trip to Pasadena over the week-end, joining his fiancée, Miss Anna Olney, and her mother, Mrs. S. Pierre Olney, for a little visit. The Olneys are spending the late spring in Southern California, at present guests at the Hotel Maryland. Upon their return plans will be perfected for the marriage of Miss Olney and Dr. Girard.

The sport dance at the Claremont Country Club on Saturday evening will draw a large number of the smart set to the attractive clubhouse tucked away in the Claremont hills. Society has adopted with enthusiasm the comfort and beauty of the outing tongs and eagerly welcomes the evening affairs which permit of the flannels and brilliant colors of the open. The dance this week finds its logical inspiration in the close of the golf and tennis tournaments which are assembling the lovers of sport on the Claremont links and courts.

One of the touching patriotic ceremonies of the week will be that at which the Ladies' Relief Corps will present to the Manzanita School Mothers' Club a beautiful flag. The silken banner is mounted on a stand and enced in charge of a patriotic committee, of which Mrs. L. W. Doty is chairman. Friday afternoon has been set apart for the solemn presentation exercises, which will be followed by a patriotic program. The Manzanita Club women have postponed their regular meeting tomorrow to the day following.

Cards have been issued for the marriage of Miss Dorothy Torrey and Harry R. Kealy, the ceremony to take place on Thursday, May 17, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cheever Torrey, in Berkeley.

Crippled Wings

... BY RUPERT HUGHES (Continued from Yesterday.)

It was a large portrait and the t at accompanying it was an adroit piece of artistry. Robert's publicity man, Starr Coleman, had smuggled past the dramatic editor's jealous guard a convincing piece of fiction purporting to describe Sheila's opinion on woman suffrage as it would affect the home. He had been unable to get at Sheila during rehearsals and he had concocted the interview out of his own head.

Winfield passed the paper across to his wife. Both were decidedly shaken. Winfield's logical mind automatically worked out a problem in ratio. If he himself felt important because a New York newspaper included his name in a list of arrivals, how important was Sheila, who received half a column of quotation and a photograph?

Furthermore, Sheila's name was coupled with that of a prominent woman whose social distinction was nation-wide. Mrs. Winfield fetched forth her spectacles. She had been reading the article with some awe. There were two or three words in it that Mrs. Winfield could not understand—neither could Sheila when she read it. Starr Coleman liked big words. But in any case the interview scared Mrs. Winfield out of her scheme to play the missionary. By the same token Mr. Winfield decided not to offer Sheila a bribe.

Their plans were in complete disarray when they reached New York. They had not been settled long in their hotel when the telephone-bell rang.

Mrs. Winfield answered the call since her husband was belatedly shaving himself.

The telephone operator said, "Mr. Skemble to speak to Mr. Winfield."

Mrs. Winfield's heart began to skip. She answered, feebly, "This is Mrs. Winfield."

The operator snapped, "Go ahead," and another voice appeared, putting extraordinary music into a lyrical "Hello."

Mrs. Winfield answered: "Hello! This is Mrs. Winfield."

"Oh, how do you do? This is Mrs. Kemble, Sheila's mother. Your son asked her to call you up as soon as you got in, but she is rehearsing and asked me to do it."

"That's very nice of you." "Why, thank you. Your son probably explained to you that Sheila is a horrible busy young woman. I know you are busy, too. You'll be doing a lot of shopping, I presume. I should like to call on you as one helpless parent on another, but by husband and I are leaving in a day or two and we are on our way to the Coast. The ocean is so beautiful that I wondered if you wouldn't be willing to run out here and take dinner with us tonight."

Mrs. Winfield's wits were so scattered that she had not the strength even to improvise another engagement. She was a little flustered. She murmured, feebly: "It would be very nice, but the boys are out."

Then the irresistible Polly Parren voice purred on: "That's splendid! We'll send our car for you. It's not a long run out here, and the boys are so happy to see the same time. You can have a little visit together."

"That would be very nice. Thank you," Mrs. Winfield babbled.

"One more thing, if I may," Polly chimed. "Our town car is in New York. It took Sheila in, you know. The driver has nothing at all to do till five. My husband says I should be glad to let you let me put it at your disposal. Please call it your very own while you're in the city, won't you? The chauffeur is quite satisfactory."

Poor Mrs. Winfield could only wait. "Hold the wire a moment, please."

She was utterly miserable. She dropped the receiver and called her father-in-law, who was in the next room. He whispered like two counterfeits with the police at the door.

See no way of escape without brutality. "Mr. and Mrs. Winfield," he called, "My husband says it is very nice of you and of course we accept."

"Oh, that's splendid!" throbbed in her ear. "I'll telephone the man to call for you at once Good-bye till dinner, then. Good-bye."

VICTOR LESSONS

Singing lessons in the home from one of the foremost vocal teachers in the United States is the latest achievement of the gramophone, and it is one which will save amateur singers thousands of dollars in transportation and instruction. In presenting to the public twenty lessons on ten double-faced records, the Victor Company brings the experience and teaching ability of Oscar Saenger of New York directly to any person desirous of obtaining reliable instruction at a nominal cost.

Oscar Saenger is generally recognized by musicians as one of the leading vocal teachers of the world. He is accredited with having given more of his pupils positions with the Metropolitan Opera Company than any other teacher. His method of instruction is scientific, accurate and adapted for the development of latent talent.

The lesson records are arranged in separate courses for soprano, mezzo-soprano, tenor, baritone and basso. Models of correct vocalization are given by artists selected by Saenger and the student is enabled to compare his own voice with her own voice until her own tone production is like it in quality. A textbook of supplementary information regarding the positions of the mouth and throat is supplied with each record. The records are accompanied by the vocal exercises played on the records, so that the difficulties of self-accompaniment or of securing someone to play the piano during practice hours are obviated.

PICKET SKIRMISH The proposed anti-fore of the anti-picketing ordinance are being for the last stages of the battle. The Employers' Association of Alameda and Contra Costa counties is sending out feelers to sound the sentiments of the voters, while the Central Labor Council is busy trying to show the folly of voting for it. The skirmishing upon the issue during the last week has grown unusually peppy.

The Employers' Association claims that it can see the doom of picketing on May 8, while the Central Labor Council says that a committee from the unions has been rescinding the alarm bell to all union voters and that there will be a big negative vote on it. During the next few days the Employers' Association will start a telephone campaign and everybody in Oakland will get a call to vote on the issue May 8.

ANZAC BOOTH PLANNED. Arrangements for an Anzac booth at the British-American war relief fund bazaar, May 24 to 26, will be made tomorrow night at Hotel St. Francis, San Francisco, when Australasians of Alameda county and from municipalities across the bay meet for planning purposes.

The meeting will be held in room 1, mezzanine floor, at 8 o'clock. The bazaar will be held in Native Sons' hall, San Francisco.

STAGS PLAN PICNIC. At the regular meeting of Oakland Drive, No. 159, Patriotic and Protective Order of Stags, the final arrangements were made for their outing and picnic to be held at Idylwood next Sunday. Trains will leave Third and Washington streets at 10 a. m., returning leave picnic grounds at 6 p. m.

MASTER BAKER TO TALK. At the weekly luncheon of Oakland's Rotary Club, to be held in Hotel Oakland tomorrow at noon, Robert Robertson, master baker, will tell his fellow club members why bread prices have advanced in the past week. He will endeavor to predict bread conditions of the future.

NATIVES FOUND TO BE GERMAN AGENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Declaration that scores of Germans who have been arriving recently from the Philippine islands, were really German agents from the Dutch East Indies, made by H. H. Post, Standard Oil representative from the island of Celebes, has impelled a rigid investigation on the part of the government authorities.

Post arrived in the city yesterday. He brings many tales of adventure and hardship gathered en route, together with scores of information regarding foreign activity on the Pacific. The whole of the East Indies, he declares, is under martial law, with all ready for prisoners of war and other belligerent.

While he was in Batavia, a mystery ship, the Maria, was chased into port by a British cruiser. She came riddled with shells and loaded with a cargo of submarine parts, besides being manned by German naval officers. It was understood that the craft was captured by some Pacific port. It is now interned at Batavia. The craft is supposed to be one to a brother of Captain Fred Jensen.

The Germans who have been reaching this country, according to Post, have been coming out of the Dutch territory painted as natives and in various other ways to escape capture. They are obliged to travel more than 500 miles with various means of communication, to reach the Philippines. Dutch wrath broke loose when seven of their ships were torpedoed outside Plymouth, England, by submarines.

PREMIER IS WON TO ULSTER VIEW

LONDON, May 2.—Premier Lloyd George's sudden trip to France will prevent him from making his proposed statement on the Irish situation in the House of Commons tomorrow. Chancellor A. Bonar Law said today that it is probable that the announcement will be made next week.

The topic of home rule continues to figure largely in the press. The Daily News is authority for the statement that the extremists have won Premier Lloyd George to the view of the Ulster unionist, and that there is little if any chance that Ulster province will be included in the bill. The prediction is reiterated that each Irish county will be allowed to vote whether it wants representation in the English parliament or in an Irish parliament at Dublin. There is little likelihood of a tangle as practically all the counties in Ulster are against home rule, while those in the balance of Ireland are for it.

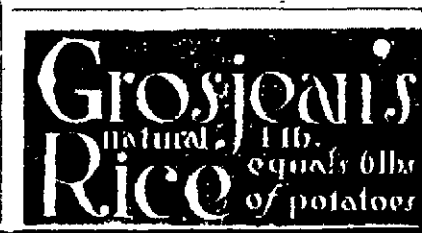

Frederick Harrison, famous British historian, in a long open letter to the Morning Post, resents the interference of Americans in British politics so far as Irish affairs are concerned.

FOR BOAT PATROL

PALO ALTO, May 2.—A campaign is on in Palo Alto to raise three crews for the Pacific Coast motor boat patrol, more commonly spoken of as the "skeeter fleet." Raymond Lovett, in charge of the campaign and is recruiting the men. Word was received from headquarters in San Francisco today that officers and doctors would visit Palo Alto next Friday evening to administer the oath and give physical examination to those wishing to enlist.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS GOOD.

When war was first declared much apprehension was expressed as to its effect upon the prosperity of the country. Sufficient time has now elapsed to carefully analyze conditions with the result that reports from all sections clearly indicate that the war, instead of retarding, has stimulated business. Thoroughly preparing themselves for the declaration when it should come, business men have for the past two years been discounting the war with the result that they were ready when it came. There were no indications of panic. The country had adjusted itself beforehand.

There will be no falling off of the orders from across the Atlantic that have so stimulated industry during the past few years. The millions loaned to the allies will be expended in this country. The seven billion, appropriated by Congress as a war measure, will be distributed throughout the United States and percolate through every avenue of approach to the public.

Owing to the shortage of food caused by the calls from abroad greater areas of farming land will be immediately cultivated than during any previous period in the history of the country. Already the demand for labor, farming machinery and implements is unprecedented.

In some quarters there has been a cry for retrenchment that conditions do not warrant. There should be no waste. All agree to that. But it is easy to be on a psychological business depression by unduly alarming the people. This is the chief danger now confronting the nation. Let there be thrift but not carried to a foolish extreme. The country is prosperous with every indication of greater industrial activity. All this can be quickly upset. We can best serve our country at this time by exuding optimism.

The knowledge that this country is splendidly responding to every requirement of the hour, and is today commanding a greater respect throughout the world than ever before, should induce every American to enter upon his or her allotted work with renewed enthusiasm and a complete confidence in the future.

A LIBERAL INDIAN POLICY.

An official announcement from the federal commissioner of Indian affairs carries the welcome news that the government has definitely determined upon a more liberal policy in dealing with the Indians and their lands. This policy essentially is the recognition of the competency of the Indian to control and administer the property which the government confuses belongs to him. In the near future incompetency will be the exception instead of competency, as has been the rule in the past.

Competent Indians of less than one-half Indian blood are to be given full control of their property so far as may be permitted by law. Those of one-half or more Indian blood will be granted patents in fee except in cases where it may appear advisable to withhold forty acres for a permanent home against any possible alienation. Graduates of government schools are to be certified as competent and treated as such. All moneys belonging to competent Indians are to be turned over to them. Well-to-do Indians are to be required to pay tuition for their children at the government schools.

This policy is really not very recent in origin. The Department of the Interior has been experimenting with it for the last four or five years and the present pronouncement may be taken to indicate that the department is satisfied that it will work out successfully. In various parts of the several Indian reservations advanced and trustworthy members of the tribes have been selected and full citizenship rights conferred upon them with impressive ceremonies. This has had a good effect and developed among all the Indians a desire for the same treatment and a determination to justify the government's confidence.

Under present laws the Indian bureau is given wide discretion in dealing with the government's charges. It can enforce a policy of repression and treat them as incompetent delinquents or it may adopt a policy of broad liberality, such as the Interior Department now approves. The new program possesses all the elements of general success. It will be setting before the Indian the prize of equal fights with other American citizens, open up a new future for him and his children and inspire him to exert and develop his best side. With progress and new measures of independence the Indian will gain fresh strength.

VICTORY CONFIRMED.

In a judgment handed down yesterday, United States Judge Van Fleet confirmed the victory which Oakland won in its petition to the State railroad commission for recognition of its superior position as to railroad freight rates. Judge Van Fleet denied the petition of the Southern Pacific, in which the San Francisco citizens exhibited a most lively interest, to have the schedule prescribed by the railroad commission set aside.

In this schedule Oakland was recognized as being the actual rail terminal for transcontinental lines and as being one rate "zone" nearer interior shipping points than San Francisco. It gave to Oakland shippers a favorable differential to all towns in the Sacramento valley and as far north as the Oregon line. This differential, it is estimated, will mean a saving of approximately $200,000 annually to the business men of this city.

The railroad claimed that the new rates were confiscatory and would work for the deprivation of their property. The federal court replies that such a claim must be based on the operating cost and income of the entire system and not of one section. Whatever relief the railroad may secure, if its claim that the rates do not yield a proper return is confirmed, will be through a readjustment of scheduled class rates all along the line, and cannot disturb the differential which the State railroad commission has recognized as due Oakland. The fight for realization of this natural advantage has been a long one, but it seems now to be in the way of becoming permanently achieved. Besides the financial benefit it will bring to shippers on the east shore, the moral influence will also be considerable.

SUPPORT FROM THE SOUTH.

The republic of Guatemala is the most recent American republic to break with the German government. While this action is not surprising, in view of the close understanding between the United States government and the officials of the Guatemalan capital, it is nevertheless gratifying as showing that German plots have not succeeded in Central America to the extent hoped by some persons and feared by others.

The response of all Latin America to the example set by the United States has on the whole been so amiable as to justify the conclusion that the declaration of war has gone very far, farther than any other event in history, toward the solidification of American thought. Cuba declared war on April 7. Brazil severed diplomatic relations with Germany on April 11. Peru endorsed the act of the United States and Brazil on April 19. Chile declared its intention to remain neutral on April 19, but added that it was its intention to adhere to the Argentine attitude. In a statement delivered to Secretary Lansing April 19, Dr. Romulo S. Naon, ambassador from Argentina, stated that his government recognized the justice of the American decision, founded as it is upon the violation of principles of neutrality established by the rules of international law which have been considered definite accomplishments of civilization. On the same day the Costa Rican government advised Washington that it endorsed the President's course and was "ready to prove it if necessary." On April 13, Bolivia handed the German minister his passport. The next day the Paraguayan government said that it recognized profoundly that the United States had been forced to resort to arms and expressed its most sincere sympathy with the government and people. Panama has voted to give unreserved assistance to the United States in the defense of the Panama canal.

If these several actions may be construed as the voice of Latin America it is applause for the United States in its assumption of the duty of defending neutrals against unlawful assault. The Railroad Commission in its annual report finds that 108 persons were killed and 416 injured at railroad crossings. It makes 1100 recommendations of things to be done and measures to be taken to reduce such casualties. These recommendations relate largely to trimming trees and placing signs more conspicuously. Most of the accidents probably involved automobilists. There would seem to be less excuse for an accident to happen to an automobile at a railroad crossing than anywhere else. On the highways an automobile may be in constant danger from incompetent or reckless or drunken driving of others, but in crossing a track all that is to be looked out for is the engine. It is entirely up to the man at the wheel. The sober driver who has any sense will not venture across till he has assured himself that the coast is clear. The engineer of a locomotive cannot stop or swerve. But an auto driver should see when danger menaces, and should not proceed until it is absolutely past. The automobile is a great institution, but it is impossible to make all the conditions that surround it fool-proof.

One of the immediately gratifying results of the Russian revolution is the emancipation of the Finns. Finland, for the more than a hundred years that it has been under the suzerainty of Russia, enjoyed a semi-autonomous government until within ten years, when the Czar descended upon it with a ruthless determination to make it thoroughly Russian. Not only was the Russian language compulsory in all official matters, but teaching the Finnish language in the schools was forbidden and all the measures that are customary to destroy a people's nationality were adopted. The Finns are phlegmatic, but were as tenacious of their nationality as the Poles. At one stroke they regained their liberty and the rejoicing throughout the land is very great.

NOTES and COMMENT

Not only an American ship has now been sunk by a German diver, but a California ship. This brings it right to our doorsteps and naturally doesn't lessen the feeling here that this thing must be seen through to a very definite conclusion.

The Russian premier scoffs at the idea that the new Russia is to desert the allies. Probabilities were all against such desertion, but it is reassuring to be reassured from such a high quarter.

One German who gets into the papers of his country appears to have no illusions about us—Maximilian Harden. He warns his people that the entry of the United States into the war must be taken seriously. It will be their own fault if they do not realize that it is no joke till so late in the game that the discovery will be of no tactical advantage.

Judge Dunne was not at all ambiguous at a time when authoritative expression was very timely in the case of Oxman et al.

The rumored abdication of the king of Greece is another reminder that this is the open season for potentes.

Germany has such a ruthless way of suppressing things that the exact condition as to food and strike troubles cannot be gauged from this distance. But enough leaks out to show that there is an enormous unsatisfied appetite and great industrial unrest.

The varying seasons bring slight relief to the Nevada City man, according to the News: "It's just one thing after another in Nevada City. The callouses on a man's hands, acquired from shoveling snow, scarcely begin to soften before he has to get out and burst a blood vessel pushing a balky lawnmower around the front yard."

The Governor now approaches the important and difficult task of deciding how many and which of the 1200 bills that get through the Legislature ought to get the final O. K. It is some task, but there is a general feeling that it will be accomplished conscientiously.

The probabilities as to crops are hard to gauge with any certainty. In the main the prognostications are pessimistic, but occasionally there is one tuned in a joyful key which foretells a bigger cornucopia than usual. The optimist is always welcome, whether he hits it right in guessing or not.

It is announced that Germany is almost entirely cut off from the rubber supply, though the official accounts of Teutonic victories at the front show no abatement of elasticity.

Such a convulsion as the bakers' strike at Chicago would not have been possible in those other days when every family achieved its own bread, and the public bakery was an occasional luxury instead of a staple reliance.

The despatch that tells of a ten-pound box of cheese selling at Detroit for $125, or at the rate of $12.50 per pound, knocks out some of the Argonaut stories of the high price of beans and other humble eatables in that romantic long ago.

Map dealers are not laying in big stocks just now and do not guarantee accuracy. Boundaries of foreign countries may be changed almost overnight, and are sure to be radically redrawn as soon as the fighting is over.

It would serve those slackers right who marry to escape war if they subsequently found it desirable to enlist to secure peace.

A Copenhagen despatch is to the effect that two days no German papers have arrived there. This is supposed to indicate that something impends. It is not likely to be something of advantage to the Germans, for they are not given to suppressing such news. Indeed, they are rather given to promulgating news as "good" that turns out to be otherwise.

SPRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Consider the Connecticut onion speculators. They took advantage of the onion scarcity to corral about 2000 carloads and hold them for a rise. They had to pay 10 cents a pound. They figured getting 15 to 20 cents. But at once there came a spell of mild, damp weather. And those 2000 cars of onions began to sprout. To save themselves the speculators were compelled to sell great quantities at 6 and 7 cents. They are said to face a loss of $500,000 to $750,000 on their venture.—Santa Rosa Press Democrat.

The barefoot boy with the hickory pole, bent pin, string and worm who starts out to use the time-honored outfit before the fishing opens is paving the way for a whole lot of trouble for his parents. In the past the game wardens have sort of overlooked the offense upon account of the age of the culprits, but the State Fish and Game Commission has sent out warnings that all offenders, no matter what their ages may be, will be prosecuted.—Vallejo Times.

Julius Kahn, who is doing California credit as leader of the minority of the House committee on military affairs, is a native of Kuppenheim, in the duchy of Bavaria. Mr. Kahn is a Republican, but is actively supporting the President's selective conscription act, against the opposition of the chairman of his committee, who is a Democrat.—Santa Rosa Republic.

The activity of city employees at election time in some big cities is well known, but nothing like the activity of our city employees in yesterday's election has been seen outside the city wards for many moons. They worked with the frenzy of desperation. As the efficient, public employee, with nothing to fear is supposed to go about his business and stay away from politics, the work yesterday would indicate that the Modesto employees were either driven into action with a club or else suffer from guilty conscience that make the maintenance of the present administration their only salvation.—Modesto Herald.

COLLEGE ADVERTISING

Would you like to go to college in "a land flowing with milk and honey and where Bacchus rules among the vines?" These were some of the features advertised by the University of Toulouse in the year 1229, says Professor Dana Carleton Munro of Princeton University.

Advertising in those days, according to Professor Munro in the Princeton Alumni Weekly, was a more highly developed art than one would now imagine. One of the chief agencies for advertising in the Middle Ages was the church, which was the focal center for the entire community. Between the sermons there were frequently games and dancing, but there was also an opportunity for discussing circulars which had been read aloud as news.

Much of the advertising was then done by a guild of town-criers. One can scarcely consider unenterprising the activities of men who went along the streets of Paris early in the morning, announcing that the public baths was open—and the water hot! Somewhat later the functions of the town-crier were greatly extended. They advertised deaths and the time of burial, advertised lost children, gave notices of meetings, read royal ordinances, cried various wares. As they also rented articles used at funerals, some seem, says Professor Munro, to have developed into undertakers.

According to Professor Munro, the university advertisement of those days offered a "haven of refuge for any university students burdened with the seriousness of past guilt and desirous of committing future sins."

Of course there may have been some exaggeration in the advertising of the olden times. Professor Munro cites the instance of the Bishop of Hildesheim's views of the Rubicon, which had been so well and widely advertised by Julius Caesar and the poet Lucan. Said the bishop: "We should have wondered greatly that such a little brook, if it is not to be called a river, should have caused fear or difficulty in crossing to such a general as Julius Caesar, whose courage was never overcome by any danger. If we had not been assured by the annals that this very Rubicon was often swollen into a great stream by the rains and the mountain torrents."

MR. CLARK CHANGES.

To the Editor of The Tribune: Champ Clark, by the grace of God and favor of William Jennings Bryan, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and not President of the United States, where the opportunities for putting his ponderous and un-understanding Missouri foot in it would have been multiplied many times, has essayed the role of dog in the manger of patriotic legislation.

A few days since, Clark yielded place as Speaker in order that he might on the floor of the House record his record by speaking in opposition to the selective draft recommendation, as vitally necessary, by the President of the United States and the general staff of its army.

In alliterative phrase, the "Speaker" stated that in Missouri the "conscription" and the "convict" were regarded as birds of a feather.

There are, however, many able, God-fearing and right-thinking men who knowing the history of their country can see no silver lining to the volunteer cloud, and with the certainty that sure knowledge of that history begets, place the same reliance on the volunteer and on our militia, quarter or wholly untrained militia, when, as now, the country is in danger, that they would on an assurance from John L. Sullivan, that he, and not Abraham Lincoln, wrote the Gettysburg oration.

The militia and volunteer services have always failed in times of need, and from their inherent structural weakness they always will, because of the moral fragility and utter selfishness of the majority of mankind.

Champ Clark indeed has not always regarded "conviction" and "conscription" as tantamount terms, and his present conversion one can but shrewdly suspect, may not be wholly unrelated to the enormous German vote in the State which "Gum Shoe" Bill Stone is to be hoped misrepresents, for Stone can truly say of Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold, "They have not passed; they have but gone before."

On July 17, 1915, the "Speaker" in his Liberty Bell oration at the Panama-Pacific Exposition stated among other things, that:

"It seems to me that if little Switzerland can mobilize in a few days an army of half a million men by means of her system of military education and discipline—the cheapest system known among men and sufficiently effective—we could by such application of her system, as fits our own case, in a year or two be able to mobilize an army of two millions of well-disciplined men, at a cost which to us would be a mere bagatelle which will be a most effective insurance for our country and all her citizens and their interests."

The Swiss military service, without going into details, is both universal and compulsory. When a lad reaches the age of 18 he may, but when he becomes 19 he must join the colors. It would be interesting to learn how Clark came to regard conscription and conviction as having a kindred meaning in opprobrium, when within less than two years, before a vast audience in San Francisco, he placed himself on record for compulsory service.

After many months of study, discussion, opposition and persuasion, the First Hebrew Congregation of this city decided to class itself among the reform organizations of Judaism in this country.

Ambassador Gerard remarked the other evening in New York that save for his constitutional cold feet, Clark might even now be President. It is possible that the present chill in the Speaker's pedal extremities may find its cause in the German writing blazoned on his Missouri wall. In its ultimate translation that writing when reduced to Anglo-Saxon English may be found for Clark to read: "You are weighed in the balance and found wanting."

SCHOOL ARTS AND CRAFTS
WORK SHOWN

Utilitarian exhibits of drawings, arts and crafts work, wood cutting, embroidery, decorative wares, architectural plans, and a wide display of domestic arts, are being shown today at the Oakland auditorium by the children of the public schools at the first Art and Industrial Exposition. The display will be open to the public three days, afternoons and evenings, and is the best of its kind ever seen in the city.

Booths and stands have been erected by the committee in charge to house the various displays. The exhibition is under the direction of Frederick H. Meyer, director of arts in the Oakland public schools and head of the school of Arts and Crafts in Berkeley. The entire scheme of the exhibition is to display the usefulness of the work of the artists produced under the methods taught.

FINE WORK SHOWN.
In addition to the general display of arts and crafts products, there are specimens of artistic wood carving, wood block printing, embroidery, decorative landscapes for home furnishing, tiles and plaques and others of a similar nature. One interesting exhibit is a set of dining-room furniture complete, made of Argentine woods presented to the Oakland schools by the government of Argentina. It is destined for the dining-room of the Oakland Technical high school.

Today's program is as follows: 2:30 to 4:30—High school commercial work, vocational dressmaking and millinery, elementary manual training, sewing, cooking kindergarten, eighth grade drawing, eighth grade water color work in still life and flowers. Concerts will be given during the afternoon by the elementary band and the high school orchestra. In the evening the high school commercial work, vocational dressmaking and millinery, elementary sewing and cooking, eighth grade still life model work in pastels, a high school class in costume design and concert by elementary band and high school orchestra will be featured.

COOKING ADDED.
Tomorrow will be given over to a similar program with the addition of camp cooking and wood block printing in the afternoon and the design of graduation dresses and applied design in the evening. The Friday afternoon session will show eighth grade work in plant analysis in addition to high school, vocational and elementary work. In the evening, motion pictures showing athletic events, track meets, pageants and other municipal attractions in which the children of the city have participated will be shown in the evening.

"Marriage Boycott" Refused
Clergymen Will Not Act

That clergymen are not in a position to inquire of prospective bridegrooms whether or not they are marrying for the purpose of avoiding conscription was the conclusion reached by the Ministers' Association of Oakland yesterday after an informal discussion of the subject. It was agreed that the mere fact that a young man of military age was taking a wife was no prima facie evidence that he was a "slacker."

The matter was brought to the attention of the association by the Rev. John Stephens of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, who declared that he could see no justification for the refusal by a clergyman to perform the marriage ceremony for a man liable to conscription. He said:

"It would be a delicate matter to inquire into the motives of the man presenting himself for the solemn obligation of marriage. His age as a potential soldier may have nothing whatever to do with his entrance into the marriage state. It would be unjust and illogical to assume that any man of military age is a slacker because he is marrying. He may have other motives. Moreover, the war department has declared that all men marrying since the declaration of war will be considered as single for the purposes of conscription, and that in itself is another reason why we should make no inquiries into motives."

The question was discussed at some length, and the informal conclusion was reached that there will be no boycott on the marriages of young men of the ages subject to draft.

TEAMSTERS WANT
RAISE IN WAGES

Increases in the price of hay, wood, coal, ice, ice cream, motor trucking and general draying will be materially advanced as the result of a demand for a wage increase of 30 cents per day, made by the teamsters of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley. The increase has been demanded as a result of the high cost of living, according to the men.

The whole matter is to be threshed out next Monday when a joint meeting of the teamsters' representatives, the Draymen's Association of Alameda county, the Coal Dealers' Association and other organizations and trades affected will be held at some point in Oakland and both sides submit arguments on the matter. Just how far this conference will extend in its operations is not known but an amicable settlement is expected.

Every expense to which the teamster is subject, has gone up considerably, according to the teamsters, including horse-shoes, feed, repair work and other commodities in addition to living expenses. A meeting was held recently by the teamsters and the matter gone over at the end of which it was decided that the raise must be given to enable the men to earn a living wage.

Preliminary conferences with members of the Draymen's Association, have given indication of a willingness to negotiate on the subject. Other lines of business were then called into the matter and the situation explained. As a result, the joint conference was set, when all sides of the question will be gone into and some equitable arrangements or adjustment made.

"We don't look for trouble," said L. E. Rowley, business representative of the Draymen's Association of Alameda county, in this matter and seem disposed to meet us on an intelligent basis. We will all try to get together. I think we will grant the raise, however."

BOY SCOUTS WILL
ESCORT BURBANK

Boy scouts and a band of school boy musicians will form the official escort for Luther Burbank, California's plant wizard, who comes to this city next Saturday to take part in the annual May festival celebration of the Oakland playground department, and to be sponsor at the planting of his latest novel creation, the Oakland Dahlia. The scouts also will take part in ceremonies in honor of the memory of Joaquin Miller at the pageant and outdoor wood-carnival staged by the children of the public schools at Trestle Glen park in the afternoon, and later in the day, at the wild flower show in the Oakland auditorium, where hundreds of California wild flowers are to be shown. Preceding the pageant, Burbank will plant the great white dahlia which he has named in Oakland's honor in City Hall plaza at a ceremony which will be attended by thousands of persons.

Special transportation has been provided for the scouts and the boys' band from the City Hall to the park, by the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and Chairman Frank Leach, Jr., of the Publicity Department. In addition to the pageant features, the boys and girls will participate in outdoor and Indian games, and athletic events such as archery, relaying the target, wheel-basho-sho, and hitting the tomahawk. Troop 8 of the Boy Scouts, under direction of Troop Master R. G. Moore will give a mounted exhibition on Indian ponies. Troop 27, under direction of A. C. Barle and W. E. Ellington will give a demonstration of bridge building.

Burbank will be the guest of honor at a reception given by the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night. The pageant in Trestle Glen park on Saturday, which is the annual school department May festival, will commemorate the memory of Joaquin Miller.

ALBATROSS TO SAIL AS MINE CRAFT

Destined for active service in the Pacific as a protective mine sweeper, the U. S. S. Albatross received orders late last night to leave her anchorage ground off the Municipal wharf at the foot of Clay street and proceed to Mare Island for alteration and equipment for the new field of endeavor.

The Albatross has been the official boat of the Federal fish commission and has been engaged in an exhaustive study of the under water flora and fauna of the South Mexican and South American seas. She returned from her latest cruise in this direction the latter part of last year and has been at the foot of Clay street ever since.

Recently, upon the receipt of orders from Washington for all commissioned Government craft to turn officers and start work recruiting men for the United States Navy, the crew of the Albatross established an enviable record as a recruiting detachment.

Pursuant to the orders, the Albatross steamed from the anchorage ground promptly at 6 o'clock this morning. At Mare Island the work of installing mine nets, tackle and additional rigging to equip the vessel for the dangerous task of mine sweeping. Work will be rushed and the Albatross sent to sea within a few days.

Twenty men have signed the roster of enlistment at Battery B's headquarters since last Saturday, according to reports issued this morning. Eighteen of these have already passed all tests and have been accepted for active service. They will go immediately into the training squads which are holding nightly drills in field piece work, signaling, field telegraph, harnessing and hitching and other battery duties. Sergeant J. H. Felton of the United States Army has been detailed to instruct recruits in the mounted battery.

Battery B was six months on the Mexican border and will be among the first of coast militia to reach the scene of actual war activities, in the event of open hostilities.

'MAN OVERBOARD'
SIGNAL PROVES
FALSE ALARM

Railroad detectives are at work investigating the cause of a mysterious "man overboard" signal which halted the ferryboat Oakland in midstream on its 11:20 trip to San Francisco today, excited the passengers aboard and puzzled the crew, although so far remains without explanation as to either origin or purpose.

The ferryboat was opposite Goat island when the signal rang. It was given by a man who was seen to jump into the water. A lifeboat was sent around the steamer while the passengers thronged the rails and scanned the surface of the bay. Not a trace could be found of any one who had fallen overboard and after many minutes delay the lifeboat was picked up and the Oakland proceeded on her way.

Invented First Glasses
for Far and Near Seeing

This achievement of the great inventor-statesman attracted much attention, but like everything new, had objectionable features. Since that time scientific men have been endeavoring to perfect a bifocal lens ground from one piece of optical glass of uniform density, but time after time gave up, declaring it a mechanical impossibility. Others persisted and their endeavors have been rewarded in the perfecting of a bifocal lens which leaves nothing further to be desired. The name of this new lens is "Calitex" and it is manufactured by California Optical Company, 221 Broadway, Oakland, and 151 Post street and 250 Mission street, San Francisco—Adv.

CULTIVATION
INSURE FOOD

With a broad spirit of general cooperation and a strict practical adherence to the plan, the limit of food production in the United States will be possible to have a surplus of food so essential both to this country and to the warring allies. This is the conclusion reached in its review of general business conditions in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district in a bulletin issued today. The report says in part:

"Copper production, particularly from Arizona and Utah, and lead from Idaho, is steadily increasing to meet war needs, as are quicksilver, tungsten, manganese and other rare metals from California; ship timbers from Oregon and Washington; livestock and wool from Oregon, Utah, Idaho and Nevada, and a vast variety of food crops."

"Food reserves have been well high exhausted. Onions are being imported from Australia; a single shipment of beans from Japan was valued at $1,000,000. Potatoes, the crop of which was much below normal, are in meager supply, partly because of heavy shipments to the East. Stocks of canned vegetables and canned fruits are practically sold out and advance sales have already been made of the principal part of the coming season's pack. One hundred thousand cases, amounting to thirty carloads, of canned salmon were recently sold to the Italian government by Seattle brokers and little remains available of last season's pack. Similar reports are made regarding certain other food reserves. It is, however, shown by the investigations of the United States department of agriculture that on April 1 the stocks of fruit, cured and pickled meats and stocks of cheese in storage in the Pacific coast states were as large, and in some instances larger, than a year ago."

"Growth is nearly a month behind the normal, due to damage by frost and deficient precipitation. In Idaho the number of cattle, sheep and hogs available for sale this year will probably be 10 per cent below normal. In Nevada, particularly in the northern part, losses have been heavier than at any time since the winter of 1889-90, and may run as high as 25 per cent. Because of the backward spring grass has been very slow in starting, and because of this there may be further losses. In Utah there has also been considerable loss because of excessive cold and lack of feed in the eastern and southeastern Oregon feed is especially scarce. Much of the feed shipped from western Oregon to California. One just returned from an extended tour through California reports sufficient feed in the range in this state and the cattle in good condition. He states that the chief concern is not about the present feed but the impending great shortage next fall."

"Heavy snows, however, while causing loss of livestock, assure abundance of irrigation water, with corresponding certainty of crops dependent upon it."

DAMAGE TO WHEAT.
Oregon reports some damage to winter wheat, the April 1 government estimate for Oregon being 84 per cent (against 98 per cent for a ten-year average) and 70 per cent for Washington. In Oregon, Washington and Idaho about 2,534,000 acres were planted in winter wheat, an increase of 34,000 acres over the preceding year but 240,000 acres less than for the winter of 1914-15.

"Conditions in California generally are quite favorable from the standpoint of considerably increased acreage and good present condition of growing crops. It is anticipated that the barley crop may amount to 900,000 tons. This would be an increase of 400,000 tons over last year's crop. It is estimated that 100,000 acres will be planted to rice, as against 60,000 last year. The acreage in beans and sugar beets is greatly increased."

"Appricots, peaches and almonds have suffered some damage from frost."

OAKS THREE GAMES FROM TOP BY 5-2 WIN

Rod Murphy's Doubles and Single Bring Oaks Out From Behind in Beaverland

Special to The TRIBUNE.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 2.—If Walter McCredie can figure out some way of getting Rod Murphy out of the Oakland line-up, and then figure out some other way of persuading Del Howard to keep Billy Lane and Roxy Middleton on the bench for a few days, the Beavers today figures that he may be able to take a few games from the climbing Oaks this week. But it is Rod Murphy whose scalp McCredie is particularly desirous of getting today as a result of Rod's activities in the first game of the week. For Murphy figured in every one of Oakland's runs yesterday, hitting two doubles and a single, for the hero role in the 5 to 2 victory with which the cellarites of former years opened their stay in the northland.

McCredie blames Murphy, but Del Howard comes right back and says that if anybody is to be blamed it might be well to take a look at the detailed play which shows how the Beavers were unable to break through the Oakland defense for a hit in the pinch. The Beavers made ten hits off Clinton Prough. Nine of these were bunched in three innings—three hits to the inning. The first two of these three-hit innings netted one run each time. But in the fourth when fast Oakland fielding had held the Beavers away from the plate on three hits and had left the bases filled with only one out, Prough came up for air and showed his class with a couple of strike-outs—picking Hollocher and Rodgers, right off the top of the Beaver batting list, for his victims. In the last five frames Siglin connected for a single and was the only Beaver to get on the paths.

Portland stock jumped well above par in the first frame when Rodgers singled, stole second, took third on an infield out, and scored on Farmer's hit. It looked as though the Beavers would be able to hit any time they wanted a safety. But Rod Murphy did not get a chance to start things until the second inning. Then he evened the count with a double, taking third on Sheehan's out, and seeing Dan Murray poked out a single to show that the Beavers were not the only ones who could deliver the old pinch hit.

Rodgers and Willie singled in the third, and Rodgers was thrown out at third. At Farmer followed with a hit that counted Willie and the Beavers were out in front, 2 to 1, for the next two innings.

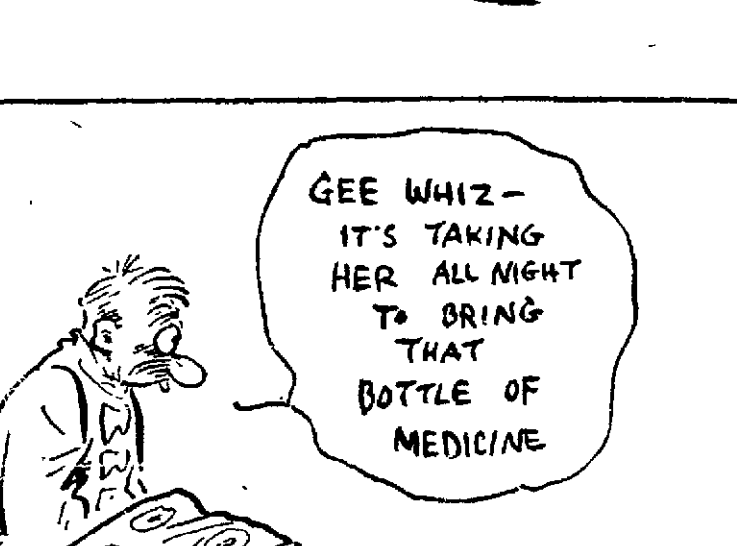

But the sixth found the Oakland treachers in action again, and Brenton did not look like the pitcher Beaver fans thought he was. Lane and Lee singled after one was out. Middleton's out advanced both runners, and Rod Murphy chased home the two runs when Farmer misjudged his long drive and it went for a double. Sheehan followed with a single and Murphy scored. It was an object lesson for the Beavers, three runs counting on four hits, where the Beavers had bunched three hits in three frames and had put over only one run in each of two of the frames.

But Lane and Murphy were not through. Lane doubled in the eighth and took third when Hollocher dropped Brenton's throw to catch him off second. Rod Murphy again came through with a hit, his single chasing Lane over the rubber.

Dan Murray did a Stovall with McCredie when he had a verbal set-to with the Portland leader. But before the two could get close enough together to do any damage other players had come to the rescue and the mayor's edict was obeyed—there was no fight.

McCredie will probably trot Penner or Fincher out on the hill today to stop the Oaks, while Howard is likely to start Happy Goodbred or the veteran Bill Burns.

MARRIED LIFE

WELSH TITLE IS SAVED BY NEW YORK LAWS

BY H. C. HAMILTON, United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 2.—There is one sure way to separate Freddie Welsh from Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight king and stage the bout where a decision can be made.

Kilbane today had shown the New York fight fans that he is the real master of the crafty Welsh and were it not for the laws of the state of New York which would crown monarch of the lightweight division.

Other boxers have outpointed Welsh. Several second class youths have taken on the champion and outpointed him, but it is doubtful if Welsh ever stood in a ring with so many boxing gloves flying around as last night. The master of block and stab was giving a boxing lesson by a black-haired youth who laughed at him. He was shown up by a man who weighed nine pounds less than himself.

The cunning of Welsh saved him from annihilation, which poised ready for him all times. He hid his chin carefully behind his gloves and stood waiting for Kilbane. Kilbane tried to make Welsh lead by feinting, but the crafty old man of the ring would not be led to the slaughter.

Kilbane landed almost at will, but he also was woefully wild with his punches. They carried a real sting when they landed.

It was a Kilbane fight from the start. After the first cautious moments had worn away the featherweight champion tore in. He outboxed the clever Welsh. When Welsh fell back on his best efforts—a one-step around the ring—Kilbane out-danced him. He laughed at Welsh and the crowd laughed with him.

Welsh left the ring with a damaged eye and with his lips cut and bleeding. Kilbane did not hear a scratch.

WELSH NEARLY OUT.

In the fourth round the double title seemed to be in Kilbane's grasp. He shot over a quick right to the jaw and Welsh was distressed when the bell rang. The crowd wildly shouted for a knock-out.

Welsh was on the defensive the greater part of the bout, Kilbane forcing the pace all the way, outthrusting and otherwise outpointing his opponent by a considerable margin.

In the opening round Kilbane crossed to the jaw with his right and was always forcing in the second he crossed his right to the head and jaw and followed with four lefts to the head and face. This right cross was the nearest blow struck in the match.

Welsh was short in his leads and missed several swipes in the third, and Kilbane had the better of the round. Kilbane scored frequently in the fourth, but Welsh opened up in the fifth and outpointed his opponent.

From this point to the end of the bout Kilbane did most of the forcing and while both were guilty of being Welsh was the more frequent offender.

In the seventh Kilbane had an opportunity after landing a telling right cross, but he did not follow it up. Again in the eighth, which was fairly even, he failed to follow up openings and the crowd manifested its disapproval. When the operators began to "box" both men started to mix it up at a lively pace. Neither had the advantage in this round.

Welsh's work improved in the ninth and tenth, but Kilbane scored the great blows were struck.

JOHNNY DUNDEE WINS.

BOSTON, May 2.—Johnny Dundee, New York lightweight, was given the referee's decision over Chick Simler of Pennsylvania in their twelve round match here last night.

Watching the Angels and Seals Strengthens Faith of Oakland Supporters in Howard's Squad

By C. E. BRAZIER.

Seal fans have not long to rejoice in the occupancy of first place in the 1917 race for the Coast League pennant. That is the only conclusion that one can reach after seeing Harry Wolverton's boys perform in the opening game of their first series against the champions of last year. Not that one game makes or unmakes the pennant chances of a team; but Seal fans have had suspicions for the last few weeks that those Seals were not necessarily as strong as their first place position might indicate.

Seal fans tried to delude themselves into thinking that because the Seals had taken six games of a series from the Oaks and that the Oaks had been going great guns for the last two weeks, the Seals were from two to six times as good as the Oaks. After their peek at their favorites in action after their first road trip and after the enthusiasm of the opening weeks of the season has worn off, Seal fans are beginning to fall in their faith.

It may be that the Angels have finally made their threatened start. But whatever it was Frank Chance's machine looked like a better baseball organization than that of Harry Wolverton. Also the Angels look due to take the big and of this week's series without any great exertion. A 2 to 0 victory does not show any decisive superiority of one club over another. But the ten highest scores of the season will be the pentathlon consisting of the shot, 100-yard dash, 150-yard high hurdle, high jump, pole vault, broad jump, half mile. Any of these events except the half-mile and the 100-yard dash may be substituted so as to make five events. Seven medals for the best performers in the various events will be awarded and ten prizes constituting the value of $70 will be given for the ten highest scores. The meet will be scored on points counting as follows: 100-yard dash, 10, 200 points, shot, 37 points, high jump, 6.5, 1000 points; 120 yard hurdles, 15 seconds, 1000 points; pole, 10.5, 1000 points, broad jump, 20 ft., 100 points; half, 2.1, 1000 points. The points are graded downward from 1000 and the highest point maker scores a win.

The object of the pentathlon is to enable a man to ascertain in what event he can best perform. It also goes to develop the all-around ability of the men participating. The meet promises to be close and exciting, with many fast men contending. Old Santa Clarans will act as timers and judges.

LEVERENZ TOO MUCH FOR TIGERS AND BEES NOSE OUT

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—Leverenz was first yesterday and that's the reason that he bunched three hits in three frames. Three hits were all that the Tiger could land off the Bee southpaw. Mike's walk in the eighth inning preceded a double by Stovall, who was pinch hitting for Decanieri, but even that did not save the run. It required an infield out by Daley, pinch hitting for Chadbourne, to put Mike over the plate and save Vernon from a shutout.

Decanieri was in as good form as Leverenz—except for one inning. But that one inning was enough for the Bees and they bunched up two hits with a hit batter and a flock of walks to put over three runs for the game. Robin and Orr hit the singles; there was an hit batter, and there were three walks.

Three double plays helped to kill off the Tiger chances. Robin was the only Bee who did much hitting and he connected four times. Chet Chadbourne was in the outfield for Vernon, giving Daley a chance to rest up. But Chadbourne is again beginning to worry about his job with the announcement that Fred Shoggrass, former big leaguer, will play with the Tigers. Now Chadbourne will probably have a race with Walter Boone to see who keeps a job.

Battling Ortega on First Open-Air Card in Emeryville Ring

Battling Ortega and Frank Barriac of Canada will hook up in the main event arranged by Matchmaker Tommy Simpson, for the opening fight card of the open-air season at Emeryville next Wednesday night. Ortega has been getting away great around the bay, but Simpson believes that he has somebody in the Canadian who will be able to stop the local fighter.

Leo Beuz, the Montana scrapper who made such a good showing against Mexican Kid Carter, will be seen in one of the special events, being matched with Young Jack Johnson. Beuz was not in condition for the Carter fight, but showed enough in one round to give promise of what he will do when he gets into condition.

Johnny Shover and Joe Miller will stage the other special event and four preliminary bouts will complete the card that will start fight activities again in the open-air Emeryville arena.

PRACTICAL-MINDED men were quick to discover how well Fatimas exactly suited their smoke-needs. Fatimas were found to be comfortable.

Not alone because they are cool and comfortable to the throat and tongue. But because they do not intrude on busy minds.

Fatima's delicately balanced Turkish blend—unlike that of a heavier, more "oily" cigarette—leaves a man feeling keen and alert even after a long-smoking day.

WOLTER AND REUTHER HAVE GOOD DAYS IN THE BIG BRUSH

Harry Wolter with a triple and a single and two runs to his credit, and Dutch Reuther, pitching shutout ball for the Chicago Cubs for the seven innings he was on the mound, kept the Coast League graduates in the lineup in the two games that were played on the big-time circuit yesterday. There were never a chance for poor St. Louis against the Cubs. Douglas, his first in two innings and when he gave way to a pinch hitter, Reuther went out and finished the job allowing only three hits for the rest of the game.

In the only American league game played, Peckinpaugh made one of the four hits made by the Indians, scoring, who was making his first start of the season for Washington. Harper issued seven passes, but the Cubs could not convert them into runs and were nipped out, 3 to 2.

Yesterday's big league hero was Bill Donovan. He protested the decision of one of San Johnson's umpires.

Two men occupied third base at Washington and Donovan claimed they both were out. The umpire held otherwise.

Two pitchers were slain as the Cubs pounded the Cardinals for seven runs in the fourth inning. Larry Doyle contributed a homer in the ninth and added two more to the total.

The Speaker, who is in fifth place now, will watch some substitute play ball for Cleveland. He is suspended.

FEDERAL FISH HATCHERY. The signature of Governor Alexander of Idaho to the key fish hatchery bill made available $50,000 for a federal fish hatchery in that state. State Game Warden has said that the hatchery probably will be located in the southern part of the state. Congress already has approved the bill.

SKIN DISEASES MEAN BAD BLOOD

Lotions and Ointments Cannot Cure Them

Eczema, Tetter, scaly irritations, pimples, blotches, red spots and other disfigurements of the skin are commonly called "skin diseases" because these disorders manifest themselves on the outer skin. In reality, however, they are not skin diseases, but are impurities in the blood, which in their effort to get out of the system naturally appear at the weakest point.

The fiery itching and burning of the skin caused by these irritations sometimes becomes almost unbearable. It is at all times a source of great discomfort, and the sufferer will gladly try almost anything for relief. A great majority of those afflicted, however, make the mistake of resorting to local applications such as ointments, lotions, salves, soaps, washes, etc. They do not realize that these local applications cannot possibly reach the source of the trouble, and no permanent cure can be expected from any disorder unless treated at its source.

You can use ointments by the pound and lotions by the gallon and make absolutely no real progress toward getting rid of these diseases, for such treatment is only palliative and not curative. No one has yet been cured of similar afflictions until they realized that the disease was in the blood, and directed the treatment toward cleansing the blood and eliminating from it the disease germs.

Here is a typical case told of by Will Young, who resides at 145 Fourth St., West Helena, Ark., who writes:

"My mother had a breaking out all over her body, starting around her ankles. She was treated by twelve doctors, and more than a thousand ointments were spent in an effort to find a cure. She was given many kinds of local remedies, none of which did her any good. Finally, realizing that the disease was in the blood, she began taking S. S. S. and after taking four bottles, most of the sores had disappeared, and she is well on the way to a complete recovery."

There is no disease having its origin in a disordered or impure condition of the blood that will not be helped by the wonderful powers of S. S. S. There is no medicine on the market that has so successfully stood the test of time, and accomplished results so consistently. S. S. S. has been in constant use for more than fifty years; it is sold by practically every drugstore in the United States, and every druggist is acquainted with its merits and will tell you that it is one of the most reliable medicines that he sells. You cannot hope to have perfect health, to be robust and strong, if there is the slightest impurity in your blood. In fact, these impurities lead to serious and disabling ailments, such as Rheumatism, Catarrh, Eczema, Scrofula, Tetter, etc.

We maintain a medical department in charge of a specialist, who will gladly give full information and advice in any case of blood disorders. You are invited to write him fully in regard to your own individual case, and he will give you complete directions for treatment, without charge. CULTIVATION IS URGED TO INSURE FOOD but the outlook is generally favorable for full fruit crops in Washington and Oregon the backward spring has been favorable for the fruit, in avoiding frost damage.

Shipping continues extremely active, hampered somewhat by scarcity of lumber and shortage of cars. Petroleum production in California in March averaged 263,513 barrels daily, which was about the same as in February and compared with shipments averaging 201,072 barrels per day, stored stocks declining $54,333 barrels to a total of 41,173,861 barrels, which compares with 60,820,315 barrels on May 1, 1915.

An $800-ton ship built for the Cunard line was recently launched at Portland, the first steel ship ever built there. The yards are said to have a capacity of forty ships, both steel and wood. Seattle reports shipbuilding contracts now exceeding $16,000,000. One shipbuilding concern in San Francisco is now launching big steel steamers at the rate of one every three weeks.

The West Coast Lumbermen's Association reports that 127 mills have a backlog of orders unsatisfied amounting to 17,475 cars. Because of car shortage 33 per cent of the mills are not soliciting orders in transcontinental markets.

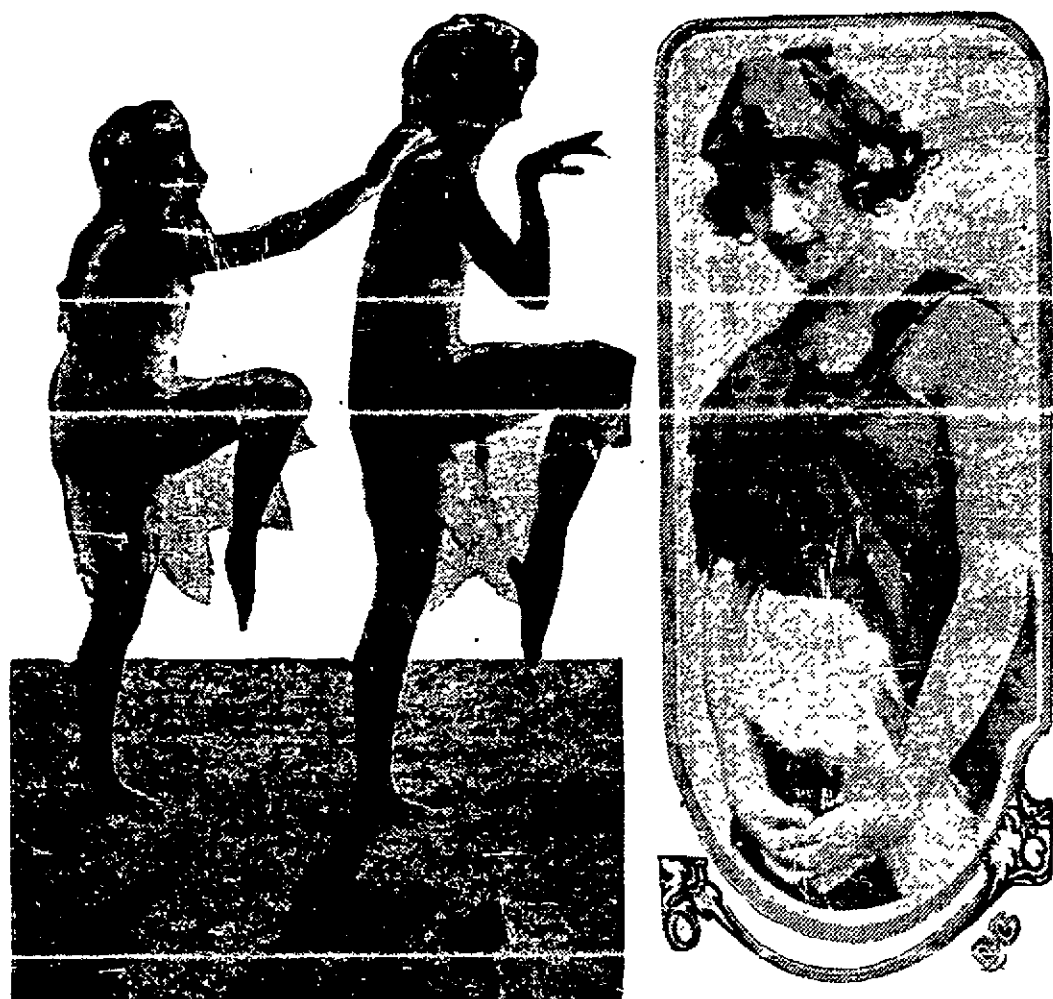

Clearings for nineteen principal cities of this district for the month of March, 1917, increased 34 per cent over those for March, 1916. Salt Lake City leading with 59 per cent, followed by Spokane with 38 per cent and San Francisco with 35 per cent. Building permits for the same nineteen cities decreased 7 per cent for March this year over the corresponding month last year.

At this time of war preparation, when there should be supreme effort to gather effectively the nation's energies in men, materials and money, California's method of collecting tax payments stands out in contrast, millions of actual gold coin being withdrawn from bank reserves and locked up in public treasuries.

On the other hand useful offers of patriotic co-operation are being made by many citizens, corporations and organizations.

Film Stars Are Attraction for Many in Theaters of Oakland

Two of the leading features in the film theaters this week. Dancing girls in "Her Nature Dance," at the Kinema, and Constance Talmadge as the Mountain Girl in "Intolerance" at the Macdonough.

NATIVES TO DANCE.

All arrangements have been completed for the big joint social dance to be given by the drill team of Piedmont Parlor, No. 87, Native Daughters of the Golden West, and the drum corps of Piedmont Parlor, No. 120, Native Sons of the Golden West, tomorrow evening, at Native Sons' hall, Eleventh and Clay streets. The committee handling this dance consists of Winifred Halter, chairman; Etta Drusdon, Margaret Thomas, Clara Siegler, Flora Gimbroni, William Husing, George Craddock, Charles Morando, Henry Weber, M. B. Morrison and Dr. James F. White.

German Strike Takes Place Censors Withhold All News

COPENHAGEN, May 2.—For five days no German newspapers reached here, so close has the frontier been sealed by the German military authorities. Rumors of disturbances in Germany continue to reach here by roundabout ways. The belief is prevalent here that May day developments were unfavorable to the German government.

LONDON, May 2.—May day passed peacefully in Russia, following a day of small-sized rioting in Petrograd, in which bombs were thrown, numbers of citizens were arrested, shots were fired and Major General Kashtalinski fell victim to an assassin's bullet.

The rioting occurred Monday. Despatches from Petrograd today attributed all the trouble to extremist agitators.

CELEBRATION QUIET.

Tuesday's celebration of May day, coming after Monday's rioting, passed off without untoward incident apparently all over Russia. More than a million people in Petrograd joined the celebration in great parades, speeches and demonstrations. It was the first time in history that Russian citizens were able openly to celebrate May day. The Petrograd speeches nearly all sounded the note of Russia's aim of not waging war for profit in lands or domination of other peoples. President Wilson's name was frequently mentioned and always cheered by the crowd.

CRISIS RUMORED.

AMSTERDAM, via London, May 2.—The Weser Zeitung of Bremen reports that Berlin is filled with rumors of a crisis in high government quarters. The newspaper says that demands are being made that a strong man be placed at the helm of the state. Work stopped completely throughout Austria-Hungary on May day, according to wireless despatches from Berne. All of the Vienna munition factories were left idle, while the workers gathered at sixty mass meetings where the food question and the need of immediate peace were the chief topics.

In Hungary a holiday was observed in all the towns. The Socialists paraded in Budapest, singing labor songs, with frequent shouts for peace and bread.

LONDON, May 2.—A Stockholm despatch says that the greatest Socialist demonstration ever seen in Scandinavia was held throughout Sweden on May day. Great crowds assembled in the streets of Stockholm carrying banners with inscriptions demanding more food and better conditions of life. Hundreds of children with peace banners participated.

A Christiania despatch says that the usual May day demonstrations were held all over Norway, and that much dissatisfaction was expressed at the high prices of the necessities of life.

FIGHTERS TO EAT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Five hundred men of the fighting First California Volunteers residing in the bay cities will sit at mess again next Monday evening at the State Armory, celebrating the nineteenth anniversary of the mustering of the regiment into the national service. A camp fire banquet of perritos, calientes, frijoles and coffee will be spread and the comrades of two decades ago will sing again the war songs of the Philippines and tell the tales of the activity of the insurgents.

RAISE DESIRED STRIKE CONTINUES SESSION OPENED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—The prospect of a sailor's strike loomed today when it became known that members of the sailor's union, the marine firemen, water tenders and others and marine cooks union have sent notice to the ship owners' association, asking for a conference. It was declared the men will ask for $65 a month and 60 cents an hour overtime, and that if the demand is rejected a strike will be called. The ship owners will meet May 9 to discuss the situation. The sailors contend that their pay is insufficient, it is said.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—While the 400 Southern Pacific freight handlers who are on strike here were conferring regarding future plans, the railroad officials announced that considerable freight was being handled. Mayor Rolph has been asked by the strikers to be mediator. The Southern Pacific expects to resume normal handling of freight before the end of the week. Santa Fe railroad freight handlers met last night to discuss striking also.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., May 2.—The seventeenth annual convention of California Division, United Daughter of the Confederacy, opened here last night with a banquet at a local hotel. Mayor C. L. Taylor delivered an address of welcome and Mrs. Milton Scott of Long Beach and Mrs. Harry Graves of Alhambra responded. Mrs. Herbert Shick, president of Mildred Lee chapter, of Bakersfield, presided. Nearly a hundred delegates are in attendance from all over the state.

LOCAL FORESTERS WILL ENTER DRILL

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—Delegates to the grand court, Foresters of America, after devoting this morning to a business session, went to North Sacramento at noon for a picnic arranged in their honor by the local court of Foresters. Tonight drill teams from San Francisco, Oakland, Marysville, Lodi, Stockton and Sacramento will compete for honors at the Sacramento armory.

Judge V. A. Anderson, of Woodland, grand chief ranger, presided over the grand court, and at the same time Mrs. Nellie O'Brien of San Francisco, grand chief companion, guided the convention of the Companions of the Forest.

PROTESTS RAISE IN BREAD PRICE AS A 'ROBBERY'

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—It is highway robbery to charge the public 19 cents for a sixteen-ounce loaf of bread and 15 cents for a twenty-six-ounce loaf, according to Charles C. Johnson, state superintendent of weights and measures. He made the statement in commenting on a recent rise in bread prices in Sacramento.

"There is no reason in the world to warrant a loaf smaller than ten ounces for 5 cents. The public should not stand for a steeper price," the superintendent declared.

EDITOR IS HELD ON FRAUD CHARGE

WILSON, N. C., May 2.—A. Roscower, editor of the Goldboro Headlight, has been convicted in the federal court here charged with securing advertisements for the Goldboro Headlight by means of a circulation which he does not possess and which the government strictly charges as fraud and deceptive and as securing money from advertisers under false pretenses. Several witnesses were examined, among them being John T. Debell, representing N. W. Ayer & Sons, of Philadelphia, and Postmaster Michaux, of Goldboro.

Debell stated that Roscower sent a statement to him regarding the circulation of the "Headlight," which claimed that he had 6850 subscribers, when Postmaster Michaux swore that his circulation ranged from 833 to 950. Debell stated that when he learned that there were several other papers in Goldboro he began to think there was something wrong with the statement of Roscower, who still insisted he had as many and gave him the rating. These allegations were denied by the defendant, through his attorneys. The defendant refused to go on the stand.

The jury, after being out one hour, returned the verdict "guilty." The judgment of Judge Connor was that Roscower be fined $200, pay the costs, and for the period of one year to carry the actual bona-fide circulation at the masthead of the "Headlight" and to give bond for the faithful performance of this order.

Carle Dollie STORIES

By HOWARD R. GARIS.

One day when Uncle Wiggly Longears, the rabbit gentleman, came home to his hollow stump bungalow, having been out riding in his automobile looking for an adventure, he heard, as soon as he reached his front stoop, a most jolly tune being played. So jolly was it that the bunny rabbit uncle had to dance a few steps before he opened the door.

"Well, well! What's all this music?" he asked Nurse Jane. "My dear bunny rabbit, it's the new record, 'The Story of the Sun' by the Sun Magazine. It's a jolly tune, isn't it?" "Oh, nothing of the sort," laughed Nurse Jane, coming out of the door, where the music sounded loudest. "You see, I just had a new phonograph sent home from the city and I'm trying some of the records. Isn't it nice?" And then she put a new needle and thread in the phonograph.

"Oh, please excuse me!" My little girl says they don't use thread in phonographs—only needles. Anyhow, Nurse Jane went in and the machine played such a jolly tune that Uncle Wiggly just had to catch hold of the hickory lady around the waist and while she carried her long tail over her paw, away they danced together to the tune of "Daddy-daddy-um!"

"Oh, that's fine!" cried Nurse Jane. "Aren't you glad I have the new phonograph, Uncle Wiggly?"

"Indeed I am," he answered. "We must invite all our friends in and give them a concert and a dance. This is as good as having adventures."

And indeed it was—at least so said all the boy and girl friends, and the older ones, too, that Uncle Wiggly and Nurse Jane invited to the hollow stump bungalow during the next few days.

Sammie and Susie Littleleaf, the rabbits, came and brought Lula, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the ducks. And the next night Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, came, with Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels.

Nurse Jane and Uncle Wiggly would be putting in new needles and records and letting the boy and girl animals play tunes. Then one night Uncle Wiggly said:

"Now all the young folks have had their fun, let's give a concert for the old folks. We'll play all old-fashioned songs and dance music, such as they used to hear when they were young, and they'll like it."

"Indeed, they will!" cried Nurse Jane. "I'll like it, too."

So Uncle Wiggly told all his friends about the old folks' concert, and it happened a few nights later Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear, came, and Uncle Butter, the old goat, and Grandfather Goosey Gander, and he brought with him an old goose lady who was quite dead.

"But perhaps she can hear a little bit," said Grandpa Goosey Gander to Uncle Wiggly.

"Perhaps if I play the phonograph real loud," said the bunny uncle, and then he and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy started the old folks' concert.

They played one record about "My Darling, Nellie Gray, They Have Taken Her Away," and Silver Threads Sewed in the Gold," or something like that, and "On the Beach at Long Branch and Asbury Park," and all the old animal gentlemen and ladies clapped their wings or flapped their wings or twiddled their paws and said:

"Ah, that was fine! It reminds me of the days when I was a young duck, just quacking my way along. Ah, yes."

"How did you like it?" asked Uncle Wiggly of the old Mr. Dr. Possum. Grandpa Gander had brought to the concert.

"No, I didn't break it," she said, thinking. "I was talking about her new bonnet which somebody had sat on when she put it on a chair by mistake."

"I mean the music—the phonograph!" cried Uncle Wiggly, shouting in her ear as loudly as he could. "Don't you like the music?" and he made the phonograph play as loudly as he could a tune called "Money Musk," which used to be great for dancing.

"Do you hear anything?" cried Uncle Wiggly and Grandpa Goosey and Mr. Whitewash and Dr. Possum all together in the poor old dead goose lady's ear, and they pointed to the phonograph, which was playing "Somebody's Coming When the Dew Drops Fall."

"Do you hear anything?" "I hear a sort of noise like a watch ticking about five miles away, but I don't call that music, not much I don't! However, never mind."

"It's too bad she can't enjoy the concert," said Dr. Possum. "Especially when it's playing the tunes she used to know when she was a girl. It's too bad."

"Can't you give her something to make her hear?" asked Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear.

Dr. Possum shook his head. Nurse Jane put a new record in the phonograph, and it played another old-fashioned tune, but the poor old goose lady shook her yellow bill and just then Uncle Wiggly came running in with something in his paw.

"Here!" he cried. "Take these and maybe you can hear the music!" and he gave the dead goose lady two vials of corn, one for each side of her head. Then she tied the corn ears on her head with some string Nurse Jane gave her.

And then, all of a sudden, as the phonograph kept on playing, the dead goose lady cried:

"Oh, I can hear! I can hear! That's great! I can hear through the ears of corn, and so could you! I don't call all she enjoyed the old-fashioned tunes very much, and everybody said Uncle Wiggly was real smart."

A S K REDUCTION

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Coal operators of the Helper (Utah) mining district, one of the chief sources of production in the West, today petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for a reduction in freight rates on coal from their mines to California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Oregon and Washington. THE STORY OF The Sun Munsey's Magazine for May

(NOW ON SALE AT ALL NEWS-STANDS) BEGINS THE PUBLICATION OF AN EXTRAORDINARILY INTERESTING CONTRIBUTION ENTITLED "THE STORY OF THE SUN" (The New York Sun)

WE might well call it "The History of The Sun," or "The Romance of The Sun," or "A Condensed Biography of New York Journalists Since the Beginning of Small Things," or "The History of New York Journalism Covering Three-quarters of a Century," or "A Look Backward at the High Lights and Big Wigs of New York in Antebellum Days." It could appear under any one of these titles, as it covers all of them in flashlight and snapshot in "The Story of The Sun."

THE SUN was founded in 1833, and was the pioneer one-cent paper of the world that stuck. All earlier efforts at one-cent journalism were of short life. Among those who failed where Young Ben Day succeeded was none other than the great Horace Greeley. But Ben Day, the young printer from New England, did much more than pioneer a new idea in journalism; he gave us a new journalism.

As the story unfolds we reach the period of Mr. Dana's administration, and it was the hand of Charles A. Dana that wrote genius all over the pages of The Sun, and sent it everywhere into the homes of culture and intellectuality

NOW ON SALE AT ALL NEWS-STANDS

The May number of Munsey's Magazine, containing "The Story of The Sun," can now be had from all newsdealers. If your newsdealer has sold his supply he can order the magazine for you.
